

Press Release
Nr. 20-14 29.07.2014

Hannover Airport: new route – new airline! To coincide with the start of the winter flight plan, Iberia is launching a new route from Hannover to Madrid. From October, there will be three flights to Spain each week.

Iberia Group is expanding its services between Germany and Spain and is adding the first direct connection between Madrid and Hannover to its route network.

From 25 October 2014, an Airbus A320 will fly three times a week (Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday) between Hannover and the Spanish capital.

Flight details:

Madrid - Hannover

Tuesday/Thursday 11.25 - 14.05

Saturday 15.50 - 18.30

Hannover - Madrid

Tuesday/Thursday 14.45 - 17.30

Saturday 19.10 – 21.55

The new connection will be of interest not only to business travelers but also to city tourists and beach holidaymakers. Passengers can connect to the Iberia's network with numerous destinations in Spain and Latin America.

Hannover Airport

Hannover Airport is one of the leading holiday airports in Northern Germany. The current timetable includes more than 80 direct flights to all popular holiday destinations. With optimum accessibility including its own motorway and suburban rail connections, a guaranteed parking space for every passenger and visitor, short distances on site and outstanding service, Hannover Airport is the ideal starting point when planning a trip. A 24h operating license and the Interkont parallel runway system for up to 60 flight movements per hour provide the ideal basis for smooth air traffic operations. Over 8,000 employees on site and ample building space for expansion make Hannover Airport not only one of the biggest employers in Lower Saxony but also one of the most important logistics and cargo centers.
